

BE PREPARED - BE AWARE

Patients should be aware of their bodies in order to identify when things feel strange or different. Early recognition of the signs and symptoms associated with infection can prevent things from getting worse and developing into future complications.

